

Monday 18 May 2026 13.00 – 14.00 GSK sponsored: On the case: real world examples of eye care professionals supporting cancer patients in their treatment journey (products mentioned).

Disclaimers: This promotional symposium is fully developed and funded by GSK for UK Ophthalmologists and Optometrists only. GSK products will be discussed, and prescribing information and adverse event reporting will be available at the meeting. GlaxoSmithKline UK Limited (GSK) has provided funding towards the overall congress venue hire and catering costs of the event, but has had no input into or influence over the event programme, content, or selection of speakers, with the exception of the GSK-sponsored symposium. No funding will be used towards staff salaries, individual benefits or delegate gifts. GSK will have the opportunity to exhibit with a company stand during the congress, and GSK staff will be present at the event.

Join us as we explore the evolving role of eye care professionals in the care of oncology patients, with expert insights, real-world cases and practical learnings on interdisciplinary care coordination- designed to support your practice, regardless of the clinical setting you work in.

Working with Ophthalmology to Enable Cancer Treatment: A Haematologist's Case Study

Dr. Dean Smith (Associate Professor, University of Nottingham; Honorary Consultant Haematologist; Nottingham University Hospitals)

Sharing Best Practice: The Leicester Model

Dr Mervyn Thomas (Clinical Associate Professor, Honorary Consultant Ophthalmologist and Clinical Lead, Ulverscroft Eye Unit, Leicester)

Sharing Best Practice: The Northern Ireland Experience

Professor Jonathan Jackson (Consultant Optometrist and Director of the Northern Ireland Clinical Research Network (NICRN))